Launch of the new website worlddidac.org

At the General Assembly in Toulouse on Thursday July 6, 2006, we will launch the new website. The new site has a more user-friendly design as well as a clear structure simplifying its use. Take a look and let us know what you think. We look forward to hearing your inputs and feedbacks.

Leadership Seminar "How quality wins business in educational projects"

This conference is the first international dialogue for years between the educational industry and development projects. It's the opportunity for manufacturers, agents, distributors and educators to share how project business is developing. What are the trends for those who are managing projects? How are the World Bank and UNICEF securing good project performance? Where do quality, best value and total cost of ownership fit into today's project agenda? How do you get in on the business at the right time? These questions will all be raised; and our international team of speakers is ready to give of their knowledge.

Worlddidac Award 2006

55 registered products for the Worlddidac Award is one of the best participation the award has ever seen in more than 20 years. The additional category for upgraded elder Worlddidac Award winner products and the option to make an online presentation are two new features, which have proven to be very valuable and appreciated by the participants. The winners of the Worlddidac Award will be published and awarded within the framework of the opening ceremony of the WORLDDIDAC BASEL 2006 on Tuesday October 24, which takes again place in the beautiful City Hall of Basel.
